

Assistant Professor Position Available at
The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Department of Sociology invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor rank that will begin August, 2013. We are seeking a scholar with an active research agenda and the ability and interest to contribute to current and emerging curriculum needs in our undergraduate, MA and PhD programs. The substantive area of expertise is open, but preference will be given to candidates whose research builds upon existing departmental strengths in analysis of inequality and institutions, and who demonstrate a record of or potential for strong scholarship and publication, and research supported by external funding.

Salary is competitive with salaries at other research universities. The teaching load is four courses per academic year. Candidates must submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, writing sample and indications of interest and expertise in teaching undergraduate and/or graduate courses in their substantive areas of interest and may include additional supporting materials. Applications must be uploaded to the following URL: <http://jobs.uwm.edu/postings/12442>.

Three letters of recommendation should be sent via e-mail to sociology@uwm.edu or via US mail to Chair; Search Committee; Department of Sociology; P.O. Box 413; University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; Milwaukee, WI 53201-0413. Preference will be given to candidates whose applications are received by March 1, 2013, but review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The names of those applicants who have not requested that their identities be withheld, and the names of all finalists, will be released upon request. UW-Milwaukee is an AA/EEO employer that especially encourages applications from women and minorities.
